A Taste of Asia:

- Mie Goreng (Fried Noodle) 55 K
A true Indonesian staple, found on every hawker stall and in many high-end restaurants too. Fried egg noodles are combined with fresh vegetables and the meat or seafood of your choice, and served with prawn crackers and pickles on the side. This dish can be prepared with as much or as little spice as you like.
- Nasi Goreng (Fried Rice) 55 K
A sister dish to mie goreng, but this time with fried rice as the main ingredient. Swap the chicken (ayam) for shrimp (udang), beef (sapi), egg or seafood.
-  Indonesian Curry 55 K
The flavours and ingredients of an Indonesian kare or kari vary from region to region depending on availability, but will almost always include chilli, lemongrass, galangal, turmeric and coriander. Choose from the following options to enjoy this delicious local favourite, cooked to your preferred spiciness and served with steamed rice. Chicken, vegetables
- Chicken Satay 55 K
Your choice of tender pieces of chicken marinated in garlic, shallots, soy and chili; skewered, grilled and served with steamed rice, spicy peanut sauce and fresh steamed vegetables.
-  Beef Rendang 105 K
This much-celebrated Indonesian dish - a rich, tender and explosively flavourful coconut and beef 'dry curry' – is often served to honoured guests at ceremonial occasions.
- Sup Buntut (Oxtail Soup) 90 K
Indonesian famous oxtail soup, tomatoes, onion leaves and celery served hot with steamed rice on the side by request
